DON'T NEGLECT TO READ THESE DIRECTIONS

TO THE TEACHER

A definite record of the work each pupil did must be left for each succeeding teacher, and a report of the same sent to the County Superintendent when required.

The work laid out for each year by the County Course of Study is what is usually accomplished in that time. It does not follow that every school should accomplish this work in the time allotted; some schools may do more, some less. The age and ability of pupils, the character of their previous instruction, the regularity of attendance, etc., are elements which will influence the time required to do the work laid out for each year. This need make no difference in the classification record; for each pupil is classified in the year in which he has been working. If, at the close of the term, the work of that term has been but half finished, this will be shown in the "Remarks," and the pupil's place in each study will be shown still more definitely in the syllabus of classes. This shows to what page in each book each class has gone, thus recording more definitely the place in the work at which each pupil left off.

The first organization and graduation of any school is the most difficult, and should be done with great care. The chief object of this record is to convey information to succeeding teachers and, by means of reports of the County Superintendent, hence, each teacher must make a full and complete record of the work done. Let this record show all the work that every pupil has been doing, whether in the text book or orally. Let it show number of classes in each branch and the pupils (by their numbers) belonging to each class; the work canvassed in each branch, by pages, or by a note under the head "Remarks," and by the promotion column.

New teachers should not make radical changes in the organization of a school until they have become familiar with the school, and then not without good reason.

It seems superfluous to say that no true teacher will, by word or action, disparage the work of his predecessor.

HOW TO CLASSIFY THE SCHOOL

- 1st. Study the County Manual carefully and refer to the State Course of Study frequently.
 - 2d. Ascertain in which year of the course the pupil has most of his work, and classify him in that year. If he has studies ahead or behind his year, indicate it by writing the number of the year of such irregular studies directly over the standing in said studies. For example, if the pupil is classified in Sixth Year, say Arithmetic, in the Seventh Year, with a standing of 85 per cent, this fact would be noted in the column headed Arithmetic, thus 7/85. This shows that although he is classified in the Sixth Year, he is in the Seventh Year in Arithmetic, with a standing of 7/85 per cent. (See sample page.)
 - 3d. When you enter names in the record, leave a few blank lines between the years for pupils that may enter school later. (See sample page.) Make no pencil marks in this record. Use only pen and ink. Adhere absolutely to neatness.
 - 4th. After each annual examination, the teacher should make an entry in the Record showing the average grades of each pupil at the close of the year, each being classified in the year where he is working. The final record at the close of the year being to convey information to succeeding teachers, it should be full and complete. (See Introduction "To the Teacher.")
 - 5th. To indicate in the record more precisely where each pupil belongs in the course of study, see "Syllabus of Classes." By this means the County Superintendent or any one who inspects the school may see at a glance where in the course of study each pupil is working, and what he is doing.
 - 6th. Pupils should pass satisfactory examinations before being promoted from one year to another. They should be promoted as soon as their advancement and ability warrant it. This system of promotion may be made an efficient incentive to pupils to finish a part of the course of study each term, and a careful record of their promotion made.
 - 7th. Where they pass the County Superintendent's Final Examination, their standing should be recorded in the List of Graduates on the back of the Record. This record should show every study which each pupil completes until he finishes the course and graduates. The graduating of classes is one of the greatest incentives that can be used in keeping pupils in school. Diplomas are furnished by the County Superintendent for all pupils who finish the course.
 - 8th. "The Syllabus of Classes" shows every class in each study, and the pupils (indicated by numbers) belonging to it; also the pages canvassed by each class during the term and their promotion. The names of pupils belonging to each class may be found by referring to the names corresponding to each number in the column of "Names of Pupils."
 - 9th. The first classification of any school is most difficult, and should be made with great care. Succeeding teachers should not change the classification left by their predecessors, without good reason. (See Introduction "To the Teacher.")
 - 10th. A pupil changing from one school to another in the county, may receive from his teacher a certificate of standing, which will enable the teacher whose school he enters to classify him without examination.
 - 11th. Classify your school before entering names in this record. Keep the daily attendance on a separate sheet if necessary till school is classified. This will avoid confusion later. After you have classified the school then enter names in groups, putting down names in First Year, then those in Second Year, etc. It is better not to enter numbers in record till towards the close of the term. (See sample page.) Leave space between year's groups for pupils that may enter later.
- To find the average daily attendance, divide the number of days attendance by the number of days taught. The "number belonging" on any day is the number enrolled less the number "dropped." The average number belonging may be found by adding the total days attendance and the total days absence, when kept correctly, and dividing by the number of days actually taught.
- All entries in the Record should be made promptly and carefully at the time when necessity occurs. The record for an entire year may be kept by writing the pupil's name but once. The year should begin with the fall term. Make out the Monthly Summaries at the close of each month, and then the making of your term report will be easy. Send your report to the County Superintendent promptly.

Always begin on a new page at first of a new school year.

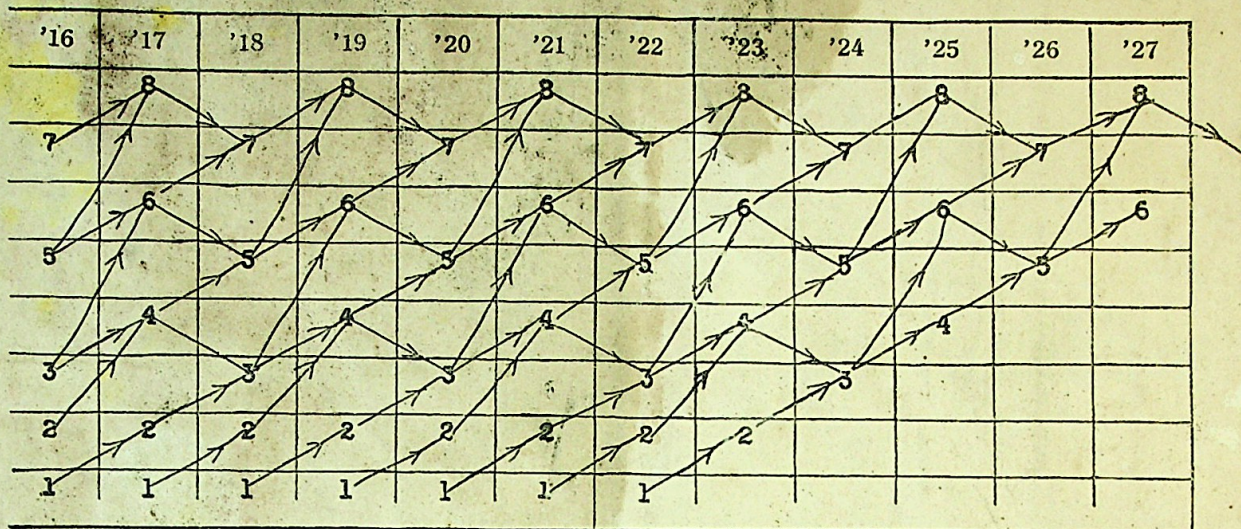

Do not overlook the blank for the Inventory of School Property.
